

When he delivered an unexpected speech at Lemmon, where his trial had been held up for nine hours by a freight wreck. Governor Marshall's audience in the City Hall was composed mainly of passengers from the Seattle-Chicago Limited on the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railway, and from several local passenger trains also blocked at Lemmon by the wreck. While the vice-presidential candidate was speaking Mrs. Marshall was busy seeking aid for the family of Brakeman Brodine, killed in the freight wreck, who was removed to have left eleven children. In opening his speech, Governor Marshall attacked the Progressive party in South Dakota.

"I would like Governor Wilson to carry South Dakota," said Governor Marshall, "but I want him to carry it because the people of South Dakota want him and not because certain men here who may not believe in his policies will be forced to vote for him or stay away from the polls, because they have been disfranchised by the 'purists' of South Dakota, who have removed the Taft electors from the official ballot."

"But if you vote for Governor Wilson, I urge you most earnestly to elect Democratic Congressmen from South Dakota to back him up in carrying out the pledges in the Democratic platform. I don't want a half-victory in November."

Stevenson Replies to Taft.
Bloomington, Ill., October 29.—Adlai E. Stevenson, Vice-President in Grover Cleveland's administration, today replied to the recent statement of President Taft to the effect that the panic of 1893 was caused by the election of Cleveland. Mr. Stevenson, in a statement, said:

"The assertion of the President that unmistakably upon Cleveland's election, capital and industry took alarm and business was disorganized is, in the light of history, astounding. The McKinley tariff law was then in operation, and the Democratic victory of 1893 was the emphatic protest of the people against the injustice and oppression of that tariff."

"The panic began long before the inauguration of Cleveland, and as President Taft admits, two years before the enactment of the Wilson tariff."

"The President says, the Wilson bill was in sight above the horizon the morning after the November election of 1892 and capital became alarmed. Strange indeed that the people should suddenly become alarmed on the morning after election at what they had done after deliberation, by nearly a million votes the day before. It was the McKinley tariff that was 'in sight above the horizon' of 1892 and resulted in Cleveland receiving 277 electoral votes to 145 for Harrison."

"The President will doubtless have occasion to remember that it was the oppressive, iniquitous Payne-Aldrich law which he signed and declared to be the best tariff law, that was 'in sight above the horizon' on the morning of November 5, 1912, and not the revision downward tariff law of the future, now so earnestly demanded."

No Hope of His Recovery.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Salisbury, N. C., October 29.—Charles Woodrum, a young white man, who was knocked in the head in Salisbury three weeks ago by Clarence Trullinger, was worse today. For ten days he had been improving although in a precarious condition. When pneumonia set in, the attending physicians give no hope of recovery. Trullinger is under bond for the amount on Woodrum, and claims self-defense.

BRUTAL MURDER BLIGHTS ROMANCE

Prospective Groom Comes Home to Find His Fiancee Slain.

Chicago, October 29.—The romance of an elopement was blighted by a brutal murder here to-day, when Miss Sophia G. Singer, an attractive Baltimore girl, was found dead. Several hundred dollars in money and jewelry brought from her Maryland home to grace her wedding to-morrow to William R. Worthen, a street car conductor, was missing. Robbery has been accepted as the motive for the crime.

Worthen found the girl's body when he returned home after midnight to the suite occupied by them and two vaudeville performers in a rooming-house at 3229 Indiana Avenue. Miss Singer had been bound and gagged and struck with a "billy."

The two vaudeville performers, Charles D. Conway, a high-diver, whose right leg has been amputated below the knee, and his wife, who also is known as Beatrice Riall and May Monte, are being sought by the police in connection with the crime.

The body of Miss Singer was found on a bed in the room occupied by the Conways. The couple had been in the house during the evening, but no trace of them has been found since the discovery of the murder. According to Worthen's story, Miss Singer was an acquaintance of Mrs. Conway, who was known to her as Miss Riall. Worthen said it was at Mrs. Conway's invitation that he and his sweetheart, who were to be married to-morrow, went to room at the same house.

Worthen declared that before leaving the house last night he gave his fiancee $48 in the presence of the Conways and then went down town. It was at midnight when he returned to the house and found the hallway spattered with blood. He aroused others in the house by repeated pounding on the door leading to the Conway room, after finding that Miss Singer was not in her own apartment.

A key was finally furnished by the keeper of the house and the door was opened. Further investigation showed the rooming house had been entered by blood. He aroused others in the house by repeated pounding on the door leading to the Conway room, after finding that Miss Singer was not in her own apartment.

According to Worthen's story, he met Miss Singer in Baltimore several months ago, where he was employed with a street car company.

Worthen is twenty-six years of age. He will be held pending the outcome of the coroner's investigation. Miss Singer was twenty-nine.

Mystery Not Solved.
Mystery surrounding the murder was not solved by the inquest, which was adjourned to-night, after a few witnesses had been examined. Coroner Hoffman said that no more could be done until the police found Charles D. Conway and his wife, vaudeville performers, wanted in the case. At the inquest Albert F. Harmon, a nephew of the victim, testified that Miss Singer had been married to a man by the name of Wells eight years ago, but was divorced after they had lived together two years.

Mrs. Charles F. Sucky, owner of a rooming house, where Charles D. Conway formerly lived, testified that Miss Singer drank heavily at times, and that she tried to keep Worthen in ignorance of it.

Worthen repeated the story he had previously told the police.

BECKER WILL HEAR SENTENCE TO-DAY

Justice Goff to Pronounce His Doom in Electric Chair.

WIFE WILL BE WITH HIM

Journey to Death-House Will Be Made Not Later Than Thursday.

Report Is Confirmed

New York, October 29.—Aaron J. Levy, his counsel, to-night confirmed the report that Shapiro had the stand against the four gangsters.

New York, October 29.—Charles Becker, deposed police lieutenant, will be sentenced to-morrow morning for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler. Becker will be brought before Justice Goff in the Criminal Courts Building at 10:30 o'clock. He will be told he must die in the electric chair in Sing Sing Prison.

Mrs. Becker will be present to hear her husband's sentence pronounced. "I shall certainly be in the court room," the devoted wife said to-day after leaving her husband behind the bars in "murderer's row" in the Tombs. "I shall go on the train with my husband to Sing Sing. I want to stay at his side as long as possible. I think it is my duty to do that and to be as brave as I can."

The "death-house" at Sing Sing will be Becker's home beginning not later than Sunday, the State plans. District Attorney Whitman does not want the responsibility of the ex-lieutenant's presence in this city when he places the "gun men" on trial. The first of them probably will be tried Monday. Sheriff Harburger declares he will not delay Becker's removal from the Tombs.

While State's counsel is said to be willing to wait until Saturday before taking Becker to Sing Sing, Sheriff Harburger said he would start with his prisoner Thursday morning; possibly to-morrow morning.

The task of prosecuting "Lefty Louie," "Whitely Lewis," "Gib the Blood" and "Dago Frank" was made less difficult this afternoon when William Shapiro, driver of the "murder car," made what purported to be a complete confession.

Shapiro was questioned by District Attorney Whitman for several hours. He urged his client to tell all he knew. Shapiro feared to do so, said the lawyer, because he believed he would be killed. With Shapiro's confession and his testimony, the stand against "what the State already knows of the movements of Rosenthal's alleged slayers on the morning the gambler was killed, District Attorney Whitman believes he will have no trouble in convicting the gangsters.

Shapiro tells a story which will help convict his passengers in the "murder car," he probably will be tried on some less serious charge than that of murder. Mr. Whitman is said to be willing to agree to this, but is not prepared to grant Shapiro complete immunity.

"Big Phil" Davidson, slayer of "Big Jack" Zell, is expected to plead guilty to murder in the second degree, or to manslaughter, when brought to trial to-morrow. Mr. Whitman, while assured that Davidson will not force the State to the case, Davidson's counsel, James W. Osborne, is understood, will insist that his client be allowed to plead to manslaughter, which has twenty years as the maximum penalty. If the State insists on second degree murder as the plea, Davidson can be sentenced to life imprisonment.

COUNCIL IN SESSION.

Members of Church from Southern States Gather at Charleston.
Charleston, S. C., October 29.—Gathered in attendance upon the Missionary Council of the Episcopal Church, which met in St. Peter's Church here to-night for the opening session of its annual meeting, Bishop Joseph Blount Cheshire, of the diocese of North Carolina, presided. Bishop Cheshire spoke for himself, the diocese of North Carolina, the people of the Episcopal Church in Charleston, and for the people of Charleston in welcoming the fourth Southern Department Missionary Council, which represents fourteen Southern dioceses of the Episcopal Church. This council was first organized in 1896, and meets annually, except on those years when the general convention of the Episcopal Church assembles. Bishop Cheshire introduced the Rev. Benjamin L. Aneel, of Yangow, China, who spoke on the topic, "The Churches Contribution to the National Life in the Orient."

FATE OF TURKEY BEING DECIDED IN GREAT BATTLE

Ghazi Nukhtar Pasha, who resigned. An Imperial decree commands the new Grand Vizier to prosecute the war with all energy.

Although all the changes in the Cabinet have not yet been made, it is announced that Nukhtar Pasha will be retained as Minister of War and Noradunghian Pasha as Minister of Foreign Affairs. Jemaladdin Pasha also will be retained as Sheikh-ul-Islam.

The change in the Grand Vizierate is not expected materially to influence either the internal or external situation. When Kiamil Pasha three months ago accepted the presidency of the council he became the dominant figure of the Cabinet, and it was foreseen that he would succeed to the Grand Vizierate at an opportune moment.

The motives for the resignation of Nukhtar Pasha are not known. It is supposed he began to feel that the responsibility for the crisis was burdensome, while the unfavorable reports current with regard to the ill-success of his son's operations against the Bulgarians doubtless caused him much chagrin.

The retention of Noradunghian Pasha as Foreign Minister shows that no startling innovations in the foreign policy are likely.

BANDITS HOLD UP PASSENGER TRAIN

Dynamite Safe and Escape With Thousands of Dollars of Loot.

Muskogee, Okla., October 29.—Southbound Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 9 was held up and robbed early to-day at Wirth, Okla., by three masked men.

The bandits, said to be little more than boys, flagged the train as it rounded a curve near a trestle, which they had set on fire. Uncoupling the engine, express and baggage cars, they compelled the engineer to run across the burning trestle half a mile farther south, where the express safe was blown open and robbed. Express officials believe the loot will amount to several thousand dollars.

The young bandits had timed their work to the minute. No. 9 was running on time, and as the train rounded the curve the bridge was in flames. Three masked men flagged it, but the engine ran upon the trestle before it could be brought to a stop. Although the flames threatened to destroy the bridge before the bandits completed their work, the engineer proceeded deliberately. The engineer, fireman, Conductor J. A. Dolan and a negro porter, all were covered with a revolver by one of the bandits. The other two uncoupled the engine, baggage and express cars. They then forced the trainmen into the cab and ordered the engine to open the throttle. The engine pulled the two cars shot ahead over the burning trestle. What remained of the trestle fell into the water just after the cars cleared it.

Half a mile south of the bridge the train was stopped and the safe in the express car dynamited and robbed. When their work was completed, the bandits fled to the wooded hills behind the trestle. A few minutes later Conductor Dolan instructed the engineer to proceed to Crowder, six miles south.

Poses were immediately organized and a pursuit started. That the three men overlooked a package containing $5000 in currency in the express car is declared by express company officials to-night. Just how much loot was secured the officials declare it will reach $20,000, but it is reported that the bandits had succeeded in eluding $10,000.

Several parties up to a late hour to-night, are believed to have made their way to the State Mountains, the most primitive section of Oklahoma, and used as a hiding place for the loot.

GRAND JURY FINDS NO VIOLATIONS

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Alexandria, Va., October 29.—A grand jury in the Circuit Court for Alexandria County, Judge Thornton presiding, this afternoon returned a verdict that it found no indictment, as it did not believe there had been any violation of the law in the seizure of property. The jury recommended that the Commissioner of Revenue make a report to the Governor.

OFFICERS OF THE ARMY ARE USING PARTY

Democratic Organization Invoked to Help Treasurers and Commissioners.

NOT DEMOCRATIC MEASURE

Surprise Caused by Methods of Treasurers' and Commissioners' Association.

In a final effort to carry the amendments to the Constitution regarding city treasurers and commissioners of the revenue at the polls next Tuesday, an attempt is being made to use the Democratic party machinery. The association put forth in writing to local party committees, that the amendments designed to permit treasurers and commissioners to succeed themselves indefinitely form a Democratic measure.

The circular letter, which is signed by Lawrence S. Davis, Treasurer of Roadsters, and commissioners of the Virginia and Commissioners' Association of Virginia, an organization formed to get through legislation desired by those members of the Legislature who opposed the joint resolution submitting the amendments to the people were Democrats, while the Republicans voted for it. Yet Mr. Davis is making an effort to bring Democratic voters into line for it, the plea that it is a party measure.

It is recalled that the Supreme Court has not, as Mr. Davis asserts, "confirmed" it "as being properly and legally done." That court has only passed on the question of jurisdiction, and should it be carried at the polls the legality of the submission will finally be tested in the courts, many leading lawyers believing it improper to do so.

Still further, the personal appeal being made by treasurers and commissioners of the argument being put forth that the amendments are not in the interest of officeholders, but are in the interest of the people. The spirit behind the amendments is thus shown.

Mr. Davis goes so far as to ask the party chairman to urge the judges of election. His circular letter, sent out all over the State, follows:

To the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee:

Dear Sir:—The constitutional amendments allowing city treasurers and commissioners of the revenue to succeed themselves will be submitted to the people at the November election. This is a Democratic measure, passed by a Democratic Legislature and approved by the Court of Appeals of the State as being legally and properly done.

At the last November election the amendments to the Constitution allowing county treasurers and county commissioners to succeed themselves were passed and have become a law. While the amendments to city treasurers and city commissioners the same privileges were defeated by the county voters, so that their successors are not allowed to succeed himself as often as the people choose to elect him, except the thirty-eight men filling the offices of city treasurers and city commissioners.

As a matter of right and justice, I am writing to appeal to you to help the amendments before the county voters and to aid us in every possible way that you can to secure their passage. It is important that the voters at each precinct shall be called to the necessity of voting on these amendments. Will you kindly help us to accomplish this in your county and precinct?

Please let me hear from you. Yours very truly,
(Signed) L. S. DAVIS,
Chancellor of the Court of Appeals.

P. S.—Kindly call the attention of all the judges of election in your county at each precinct to the amendments to the attention of every voter at the polls.

JAMES W. HOPKINS DIES

OBITUARY

Captain Edwin B. Smith.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Danville, Va., October 29.—The death of Captain Edwin B. Smith occurred at his home on Holbrook Avenue. His death was totally unexpected, he having been apparently in the best of health. Only this afternoon he was walking in the city and returned to his home at supper time in his usual spirits. Captain Smith was in his seventy-fifth year, and was a native of Danville. He was a member of the Danville Cavalry, and served throughout the war with distinction. He was a man of high character and generally beloved, being one of the city's most prominent citizens. He is survived by seven children: Mrs. Julia Smith, Danville; Mrs. Walter Garrison, Albemarle; Mrs. John Smith, Albemarle; Mrs. John Smith, Albemarle; Mrs. John Smith, Albemarle; Mrs. John Smith, Albemarle; Mrs. John Smith, Albemarle.

The Gadder Is On the Job

Travelers Don't Fear Stomach Disturbances. Druggists Tablets Enable the Stomach to Stand Anything.

A Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Is a Year Round Traveling Companion.

"Radiators tell you about the wonders of Nature along their lines; hotels describe their modern accommodations; but they never fail to ring in their 'cuisine unexcelled.' The wise traveler knows he is taking 'pot luck' when he leaves home, hence a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is quite as essential as many of the other traveling requisites."

Thus commented a philosophical traveling man, speaking of hotel life, restaurants, grills and smothered lunch counters. These conditions, in this world, he continued, "are the result of one set of men trying to compel the other set to think and act against their own inclinations. It is the same in religion, politics and estate. I have learned from experience to eat what they serve; to forget the food experts' read the stomach to the best expert in the world—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts assist in digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach, and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and they are the one article that the traveler does not try to do something in the place of that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them have made them the reach of every one. (Advertisement.)
